AND WE THOUGHT WE WERE HOT--As the blackened woods behind him still smolder, Greenwood fireman Ron Savage hauls hose from a woods fire along the railroad tracks on the Bethel/Greenwood town line. Firefighters from Bethel and Greenwood returned to the site for three days running last week, as the fire, originally started by a train, continued to reignite. The heat and distance from any roads contributed to the difficulty of fighting the stubborn blaze.

Baby, its HHH out there!

Hazy, hot, humid weather eases, but not much

By WENDY HANSCOM

Cool swimming spots, air-conditioned spaces and a breath of ozone-free air were all at a premium last week as a record-breaking heat wave, combined with oppressive humidity, settled over the area.

Sunday marked the fifth day of 90-degree-plus temperatures in Portland, matching records set in 1944 and 1948.

Only the arrival of clouds accompanied by a cold (well cooler) front Monday averted a record-breaking six-day heat wave.

The heat and humidity were responsible for the deaths of almost 50 people along the East Coast.

Officials at the Bethel Area Health Center, however, report no local cases of heat related illnesses such as sunstroke or heat exhaustion.

"People seemed careful to heed the warnings," said receptionist Linda Morgan. "We did have a few people calling and asking about sunburn treatment."

Drier air edged into western Maine Sunday bringing some relief from the humidity. Weather forecasters are predicting the drier trend will continue this week with daytime temperatures in the high 70s and 80s.

Greenwood Comprehensive planning starts

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A committee of eight Greenwood volunteers has begun the process of developing a new comprehensive plan for the town.

A new plan is expected to be ready for presentation to voters within a year and a half, according to committee co-chair Raymond Seames.

At their annual Town Meeting in March, Greenwood voters agreed to accept a $13,985 state planning grant, which will be used—along with a $4,662 local match—to fund the project. (The planning grant is similar to one turned down by Bethel voters at a special Town Meeting last month.)

The Greenwood committee is currently negotiating with the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments to provide technical assistance with the comprehensive plan revision. The contract with AVCOG is expected to cost between $11,000 and $12,000, Seames said.

Local input sought

One key element of the planning process, Seames said, will be a survey of residents (and non-residents as well, if possible). The survey will ask how satisfied they are with various aspects of the town, what changes they would like to see, and what they hope the town will look like ten years down the line.

The committee will also be approaching groups in Greenwood and nearby towns for "any input that they can give us," Seames said.

One possible source of information that is unlikely to prove of much value is the town's current comprehensive plan. The plan is only four years old, Seames said, "but it's filled with errors and so general that it's pretty near useless."

Analysis, goals, strategy

The town's comprehensive planning process will be divided into three phases; resource inventory and analysis, setting goals and general policy, and developing an implementation strategy.

Committee subgroups have already begun working on aspects of the initial phase, Seames said, but there's plenty of work to go around and more volunteers to serve on the committee would be welcome.

The committee meets ever other Thursday. Anyone interested in volunteering should contact the town selectmen.

Newry Board has questions on Powder Ridge extension

By WENDY HANSCOM

Developers of Powder Ridge have submitted an application for a subdivision and site plan extension to the Newry Planning Board, but before acting on the application the board will ask the town's fire chief and road commissioner to list any concerns he has regarding construction at the site.

Plans for 99 residential lots and the construction of 99 condominiums at Powder Ridge were approved by the Planning Board in March of 1990.

The initial approval was good for three years, and last month Glover Development Corp. of Bethel submitted an application for an extension on the subdivision and its site plan.

Representatives of Glover Development are scheduled to appear at

SAD44 hearing Tuesday on The $6 million budget

By WENDY HANSCOM

The SAD44 Board of Directors will hold a public hearing Tuesday, July 20, on the district's fiscal-year 1994 budget. The hearing will begin at 7 p.m. in the Telstar High School auditorium.

Handouts on the new budget will be passed out, and the board will take questions and comments from the audience.

The district-wide annual budget meeting, at which voters will be asked to approve next year's budget, is scheduled for July 28 at 7 p.m. in the Telstar auditorium.

District budget hearings and votes are usually held in April, but the process was delayed this year by uncertainty over the amount of money the district would be receiving from the state.

The Board of Directors formally agreed Monday evening to a $6,090,076 budget for the coming year. The figure represents a 2.07 percent increase over the FY '93 budget of $5,966,070.

However, because the district will be receiving less state school subsidy for the coming year, the total tax bill to SAD44 towns will go up by almost 7 percent.

The actual increase for each town varies according to yearly fluctuations in the state's valuation of real estate in the town.

On page 2 is a chart of each SAD44 town's school assessment under the new budget, along with a list of some of the items that were added or deleted in this year's budget building process.

Tractor trailer runs over boy near Locke Mills

Teenagers reported to have been playing in highway prior to accident

By WENDY HANSCOM

A 14-year-old Bethel boy is recovering from two broken legs and several bumps and bruises after he was run over by a tractor-trailer truck near the Bethel/Locke Mills town line on Route 26, according to Bethel police.

The boy was walking north on the yellow center-line of Route 26 with his 15-year-old cousin Friday, when a tractor-trailer truck driven by Richard Fluet of St. Ludger, Quebec drove up, said Bethel Chief of Police Dale Bellman.

A third, 16-year-old, boy from Greenwood was watching the scene from the side of the northbound lane, Bellman said.

The third youth yelled a warning to the pair in the middle of the road as the truck approached, Bellman said, but only the 15-year-old managed to step into the southbound lane and out of the way of the northbound truck.

The 14-year-old panicked and stepped into the path of the tractor-trailer truck, the Chief said. As the boy turned toward the truck, his right foot was run over by the truck's tractor, Bellman said. The youth pushed against the truck as it swerved toward the side of the road, Bellman said, but he fell to the ground and both pairs of the flat-bed trailer's tandem tires ran over his legs.

Fortunately, the trailer was empty at the time.

Feds take over 165 Gilead acres

By JAMES STEVENS

and CITIZEN STAFF

Federal authorities have seized 165 acres of land in Gilead from Roy Newton of Bethel—but both sides agree it was a friendly takeover.

Army National Guard officials say the Guard is assuming ownership under "friendly condemnation" proceedings.

Newton has been leasing the tract of land to the guard for several years. He said he agreed to the condemnation and to selling the land to the guard for "a fair purchase price."

The land borders the National Guard's Bog Brook Training Area, the White Mountains National Forest, Bog Brook and the Androscoggin River.

The parcel offers guardsmen training at the Bog Brook Camp a remote area for practice drills, but is still close enough to civilization for supplies and amenities, Newton said.

"They like the area because its not close to people," he said, "yet its not out in the middle of nowhere."

The Guard has been using the area for light infantry and engineer training, according to Col. Roland

SEWAGE FLOWS, PROJECT SLOWS—Workers from Couture Construction Company divert the flow of sewage from pipe broken while digging in the intersection at the head of Main Street. The broken pipe forced a two-hour closing of the Mill Hill pump station Thursday, to allow for the installation of a temporary service line. There was no interruption in resident service, according to Town Manager Madeline Henley. Phase Three work is currently running behind schedule, Henley said, and the contractor will either have to add more crews or get the town to agree to extend the original completion date of Aug. 31. But the area around the town common will still be cleared of construction activity and cleaned up for this weekend's Mollyckett Day activities, Henley said. (And this year the common will once again be drained before the festival.)

DON'T LIMIT LOCAL KIDS

To the Editor:

I am writing a response to the article by Michael Daniels in the June 30 paper about the group size limit in the Caribou-Speckled Mountain Wilderness Area.

This area brings up some real emotions for me. The group size is limited, but only to those honest enough to contact the USFS before their hike. One group turned away this year because of the size limit was my son's CPS class, which had chosen Caribou Mountain because of the accessibility, familiarity, location, and ability to have radio contact.

The Caribou hike would have enabled these young, impressionable (and mid-week) hikers to enjoy a summit and actually walk over the mountain. The pick up would have been at Pooh Corner Farm, so that the finish time could be flexible, near phone, refreshments, and parking. The local children were denied access to a hike on Caribou Mountain and decided not to choose another WMNF area because the same criteria could not be met.

My argument is that the local people were painfully aware of what wilderness designation meant and formed groups to oppose the passing. The local people are the ones limited by the label.

It is my feeling that the education needs to be with our lawmakers so that there may be changes made to allow local children to use their own backyard and learn about the environment with their school groups. Some children would only get this experience in school. Caribou is not "just another place." It is a place 30 minutes from CPS; it is a place with a different up and down route; it is a place with a 360 degree view; and it is a place teachers are familiar with and comfortable leading a group into. Let's not limit ourselves. Let's remember some children will never see the summit of Caribou Mountain if not for willing leaders in groups larger than 10.

In closing, if it is a goal to limit group size, why the construction of the fancy parking lot off Route 113 and the proposed parking lot on the Bog Road? More cars bring more people and more lost people, not to mention the money spent.

KEEPING IT GREEN

To the Editor:

With the final paving of Lower Main St. we see the welcome result of a long process of hard work, discussion, citizen input, and design compromise. At its best the process was informative and collaborative. Where there was rancor, it came from the collision of citizenry and town officials. Perhaps it came most from our seeking that town government work with people of the community rather than above them. Compromise was negotiated, position for position, in what became, unfortunately, a struggle for points. Initial surprising cynicism by some selectmen about the original petition signers was balanced, thankfully, by respect for their seriousness, loyalty to community values, and intelligent capacity to participate in community design. In sum, the project has made clear to us that a heightened level of general alertness and participation is an essential ingredient in Bethel's life and future.

With that as a pledge, we would like to say we like how Lower Main St. looks. If we had one wish, it would be that town officials had not insisted on asphalt curbing on the north side. Nevertheless, the grass strip offers a softened and inviting entry into the village. Replacement trees are promised. The houses remain graceful, set comfortably back from the pavement. We hope the renovations in progress on the corner house will strengthen the im-tial impression of Bethel as a traditional village. The asphalt is itself clean and trim, but the message that the prospect as a whole suggests remains "people-resident and visiting" rather than "cars, traffic, thoroughway." We think that will prove both good for people and good for business.

The issue of parking, which was the original source of the Lower Main Street design controversy: cars vs. grass and trees, will not go away of course. We hope it doesn't. An in-town parking area, or two, the location indicated where people enter the village, still seems a key to accommodating village traffic without choking the village in the process. Parking in an off-street location offers the only long-term solution. Eating up one green strip after another for a few added parking spaces never really addresses the problem, while it butchers the appearance of the village in the attempt. Green breathing space in which to attract and do business is a more powerful community asset than road-side parking space.

DOCTOR SAYS GOOD-BYE

To the Editor:

I will be leaving the Bethel Area Health Center after July 15. I'm going to Burlington, Vt., to a family practice group. I would like to thank the people who have given me the opportunity to be their doctor over these past three years. To me, being a small-town doctor has been a unique privilege. I feel that I have been providing medical care somewhere where I have really made a difference. I have had the chance to become close to many people, and I have often felt a sense of appreciation and respect from my patients.

There are many people I would need to thank for making my job easier. Not mentioning names will help avoid missing somebody who has been important to me, but who was overlooked. I'd like to thank the many hardworking volunteers at the Bethel Emergency Ambulance Rescue Service. All of these people work many hours and make themselves available at a moment's notice. I'm truly impressed at the amount of time they give to this service. This and other area rescue units do important work, with only the satisfaction of helping in times of need as their reward.

I'd like to thank many fine people at Gould Academy, and especially to the nurses, who routinely see more patients a day than I do. I'll miss my time there. Thanks to the people at Preb's Pharmacy, who are friendly and professional. Thanks to the excellent nursing staff at Ledgewood Nursing Home, who give wonderful, personal care to the residents. Thanks also to the Androscoggin Home Health Care nurses, who are so important in helping people get better in the climate of their own homes. Thank you to the staff at Stephens Memorial Hospital, who have given me a lot of support over the years. And thanks to the staff of the Bethel Area Health Center, who have worked through thick and thin to help deliver high-quality health care to the Bethel area.

I would also like to thank the many teachers and babysitters that Harley has had while we've been here. Their influence on him has been as important as ours, and they've added immeasurably to his growth, from a crawling, babbling baby to the (generally) happy and curious boy he has become. I especially thank one person and her family for the time and care she has given to Harley and us—thanks, Nanny.

I know it's not easy for people when a doctor leaves a practice. It takes time to become comfortable in the relationship between a patient and a doctor. Losing that relationship is difficult for me as well. I did not come to Bethel with the idea of staying only three years, but moving on is the right thing for me now. I would like people to know that I am not leaving because of salary concerns, or because I don't like Bethel, or because it's a good career move. We came to Bethel because we knew the town. We spent our honeymoon at the Bethel Inn, and camped on the Wild River. I'll miss living here, but I'm grateful for what I have had here.

A BIT OF HOME AWAY FROM HOME—The Ulster American Folk Park, complete with an genuine American style barn, was one of the stops for the group of SAD44 youngsters and their chaperones who returned Friday from two weeks in Northern Ireland. The group was hosted by the Newry, Northern Ireland, which last year sent a group of youngsters to visit its namesake, Newry, Maine. In welcoming the visitors to Northern Ireland, Newry Council Chairman (mayor) James Savage said: "Day by day, the world is becoming a smaller place, and so long as we have people with a generous nature and true compassion for their fellow man, than this type of venture can only set the foundations for a greater understanding of peoples on a global basis."

I've always felt that the most important aspect of a doctor-patient relationship is communication. Along with that goes respect for the patient. I hope people can say I listened, and understood, and respected them. If so, then I feel my job has been a success.

STOLEN PLANT MEANS MORE PAIN FOR CHILD

To the Editor:

I feel that it is a crying shame that a little six-year-old puts a plant on his father's grave and when he goes back to the grave to see how the plant is doing and to put water on it, he finds the plant is completely gone. That little boy was heartbroken. I would feel pretty proud of myself if I did something like that to a little boy.

Boy

Bethel Emergency Ambulance Rescue Service transported the injured boy to Stephen's Memorial Hospital.

The hospital does not release information on the condition of juveniles, but Bellman said the boy's mother reported he had broken both his legs in at least two places.

Police deferred to the boys' parents' requests not to release their names.

Oxford County deputies and State Police troopers assisted at the scene.

Bellman said no charges will be brought against the truck driver, who "did everything he could to avoid hitting anyone."

Bellman said he has no idea why the boys were walking on the center line. The boys say they were not playing "chicken" with oncoming traffic, he said.

However, one motorist who had passed the scene minutes before the accident told The Citizen the boys had been jumping and waving their arms as they walked along the center line. When he slowed to tell them to get out of the road, he said, they replied with the usual vulgar gesture.

Bellman said the boys were lucky the accident was not far more serious. "They picked the worst place to play," he said. "Walking up the middle of Route 26 is a foolish thing to do. Someone could have lost his life."

There is also a rope repelling training tower, obstacle course and mock village on the site.

Guardsmen are taught, for example, how to properly place sandbags in windows for protection from enemy attack, he said.

The Guard also has a special use permit from the U.S. Forest Service for use of National Forest lands.

The training area is also used by Boy Scouts and other youth leadership programs, LaPointe said.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Much appreciation is expressed to everyone who made the first Fourth of July Community Picnic such a success. The weather cooperated beautifully, and everything went without a hitch.

Special thanks go to Dr. Ernest Cassara for his historical perspective; to Justin Gilbert, Rick Wiltzius, and Jim Lowe for their help in moving chairs, tables, etc.; to Jane Hosterman for preparing picnic lunches for all the members of the Portland Brass Quintet; and to all the donors cited previously who helped the Society meet the matching grant from the Maine Arts Commission.

Plans are now being made to make the event an annual one. Suggestions are needed to build on this success; other organizations and individuals wishing to work with the Society in making the Fourth in Bethel a memorable time should call the Society office at 824-2908.

Two additional gifts to assist in defraying the expenses of the quintet have been received from Dr. Eva Schindler-Rainman of Los Angeles and Kenneth and Gwyneth Bohr of Bethel. Much appreciation is expressed to the above for their support and generosity.

Woods fire danger up

Along with the hot, dry weather comes the increased danger of forest fires.

Light showers dampened the woods Monday, but local fire officials say the area needs a good soaking to lessen the threat of forest fires.

"Every little bit helps," said Newry Fire Chief Virgil "Tink" Konkright, "but four or five hours of sun with heat will dry us right out again."

So far, there have been no large burns in the greater Bethel-area. But Bethel and Greenwood fire fighters were called out three times last week to fight a fire along the railroad tracks on the Bethel/Locke Mills line.

Sparks from a passing train's brakes ignited brush along the tracks Tuesday, Bethel Fire Chief James Young said. Tuesday's fire burned more than an acre, he said.

Bethel and Greenwood fire-fighters were called to the same scene again Thursday when train sparks set off another fire, Young said.

The second fire burned another acre or so and Bethel firemen returned to the site again Friday to put out a rekindled hot spot, Young said.

Greenwood Fire Chief Ray Seames said the St. Lawrence Atlantic Railroad will pay the fire-fighting costs.

Raging rags kindle flames in ski rental shop

By WENDY HANSCOM

Spontaneous combustion of a pile of rags is being blamed for a fire last week in a ski rental storage area in Sunday River Ski Resort's South Ridge base lodge.

The fire caused $8,000 to $10,000 worth of damage, according to Newry Fire Chief Virgil "Tink" Konkright.

Last week's extreme heat probably caused a pile of rags that had been used with paint thinner to ignite, Konkright said.

Firefighters from Bethel and Newry responded to a report of smoke coming from the lodge Wednesday evening.

When Newry firefighters arrived on the scene at 7:51 p.m., they could hear sprinkler alarms sounding, and smoke was visible through some of the windows, Konkright said.

The fire was located when firemen saw water from the sprinkler system spraying against a window, Konkright said.

Ten firefighters donned air packs and went into the building to check the extent of the fire.

"The fire was burning in an area used to store skis and other general materials," Konkright said. "The sprinklers were keeping it from spreading. We put out what was burning with a hose." Six sprinkler heads went off, he said.

The blaze was under control in about five minutes, Konkright said, but firefighters remained on the scene until 10 p.m. making sure the fire was fully extinguished and had not spread beyond the ski storage area, he said. The nearby Saturdays restaurant also sustained smoke and water damage but reopened by the following morning.

Water was obtained from a hydrant at the scene. About 16 Newry and 10 Bethel firemen responded.

Service are warning campers, barbecuers and others to be very careful with all types of fires.

"Logging operations, the railroads, lightning and sometimes even a bottle will start fires," said

Fire Prevention Specialist Jim Downie of the Forest Service, "but people are responsible for 90 percent of all forest fires."

Downie said a discarded glass bottle is thought to be responsible for a forest fire in the Augusta area earlier this summer. Glass bottles can concentrate and intensify the sun's rays, he said, and ignite the dry ground underneath them.

"We're encouraging home-owners and campers to check with fire officials before burning," he said, "and if possible to put off any burning until we get some significant rain."

But Downie said the state has not yet imposed any restrictions on burning.

"Town wardens do an outstanding job," Downie said. "They usually shut-off permitting burning long before they get any orders from Augusta."

Bethel Fire Chief Young said he has stopped issuing burning permits. Newry Chief Konkright said he has been allowing burning after 5 p.m., but may stop permits altogether if the dry, hot spell continues.

Downie said until the fire danger lessens, the Forest Service will continue to run two or three air flights daily from several sites throughout the state to check for forest fires.

"We're increasing air detection flights in areas that have had a lot of fires," Downie said. "We'll run two a day or more if needed."

Common sense is the best prevention of forest fires, Downie said. Home owners should be careful with any fire, and campers should make sure camp fires are fully contained or extinguished before leaving the campsite.

From the Bethel Police log:

Cable TV shot out on Vernon Street; China Gem sign rocked, chairs swiped

Wednesday, a United Cablevision employee told police a cable television wire on Vernon Street had been shot down, possibly by rifle fire. Police reported no complaints of shots being fired in the area.

Thursday, a China Gem Restaurant employee told police the Chinese restaurant's sign had been pelted by rocks and two chairs valued at $20 had been stolen.

In other police news last week, on July 4 police summonsed Christopher Hutchinson, 21, of Bryant Pond for operating a motorcycle without a license.

Wednesday, police arrested George E. Bradley, 24, of Bethel for operating a motor vehicle without a license. He was transported to the Oxford County Jail.

Thursday, police responded to a two-car accident on the intersection of Railroad and Main streets. Rodney Withy, 36, of Locke Mills was stopped at the intersection waiting to make a left turn, when Wendy E. Coughlan, 31, of Ferrisburgh, Vt. ran into the back of Withy's vehicle, according to the police log. No damage was done to Withy's vehicle. Police estimated the damage to Coughlan's vehicle at less than $500.

Saturday evening, police responded to a report of three people fighting in the Sudbury Inn parking lot. The subjects were gone when police arrived.

Sunday, a West Bethel juvenile was reported as a runaway. Officer Darren Tripp requested that the boy's description be put out on area police bands. On the way to the juvenile's home, Tripp spotted him walking along Route 26 and transported him home.

the July 21 planning board meeting to discuss the extension.

Planning Board Chairman Don Sandstrom had asked the town's selectmen and Fire Chief and Road Commissioner Virgil "Tink" Konkright to attend last Wednesday's meeting to discuss any concerns regarding the extension.

However, prior to the discussion of Powder Ridge, Konkright, selectman Willard Wight, and Planning Board members Joseph Aloisio and Brooks Morton had to leave the meeting to fight a fire at Sunday River Ski Resort.

Selectman James Sysko told the board that he was concerned with a "blind hill" in a development, and with firetruck access to a pond on the site.

Firetrucks cannot get close enough to the pond at the site to pump water from it, Sysko said.

He also questioned the safety of a road in the development that crests sharply. Sysko said the town's road commissioner should make sure the road meets all engineering requirements.

Sandstrom suggested that before the July 21 meeting Konkright be asked to submit a letter to the planning board outlining any problems with fire-fighting capabilities at the development or problems with any roads.

In other business last week, the board approved Romeo and Joan Baker's plan for a 19 acre, three-lot subdivision, Baker's Acres, on the north side of the Sunday River Road east of Baker Street and west of the Douglass Road.

Car fire closes Pleasant River Chinese Restaurant

The Pleasant River Chinese Restaurant was temporarily closed last week after a flaming car crashed into a dumpster in the parking lot.

Restaurant employee Mary Chapman, 34, of Bethel, had just gotten out of her 1983 Plymouth sedan on Tuesday afternoon when it began rolling toward the restaurant in flames.

The car stopped when it hit a dumpster, according to Bethel Police Chief Dale Bellman. Smoke from the fire went into the restaurant and motel, which is owned by Francis and Barbara Dumont.

Firefighters from Bethel and Gilead responded to the fire. The car was engulfed by flames when they arrived.

"It was totalled, all they could do was put it out," Bellman said. The car was insured, he said. The fire probably started in the car's electrical system, he said.

The Department of Human Services forced the restaurant to close until all smoke damage was cleaned up, Bellman said.

The Chinese restaurant was open for business again Friday, according to Barbara Dumont. Any food exposed to the smoke had to be thrown out, she said, and the restaurant was cleaned up of all smoke damage.

The incident was not thought to be related to last week's heat wave.

Andover sets value of MCI

By JAMES STEVENS

Andover Selectmen voted last week to accept town assessor Michael L. Austin's assessment of the MCI complex, setting the value of the facility at $19,039,500.

MCI has contested the town's valuation since the company bought the property in 1988. The basis for the disagreement is that MCI believes the facility should be taxed according to what was paid for it, while the town believes their assessor's value is the true taxable value.

"We treat them just like we treat any other taxpayer in town. They have contested our appraisals since 1988, and they continue to contest them. They have also paid each year," said Wayne Delano, chairman of the selectmen.

As in the past, this review included a site inspection on April 14, 1993, a review of MCI's 1993 declaration, and further review of state, local and company information, according to Austin.

"I am of the opinion that the 1993 assessed valuation for the real estate should remain the same as the 1992 tax year," Austin said in his recommendation.

New taxable personal property at the station amounted to $487,500 after depreciation, but that investment was offset by an overall $170,000 reduction in value due to depreciation.

"Really nothing has changed except for some of the personal property and adjustments for depreciation," Selectwoman Kathy Williamson said.

Chairman Delano motioned to accept Austin's recommendation and the full board voted unanimously to accept it, but the board refused to release the entire report because it "is still in litigation," according to Delano. The board released about 50-60 percent of the report.

When asked about the litigation between the town and MCI over the valuation, Williamson said, "I think it is moving along." Delano said, "I don't know. I thought that years ago after the meeting."

It's A Legal Question...

QUESTION: Do we have to sell everything we own or be "broke" to qualify for Medicare payments for nursing home expenses?

ANSWER: Many elderly in Maine may believe they have to "spend" themselves into poverty to qualify for Medicaid to meet expenses for nursing home care. This is not the case. In fact, there are important planning steps and individual can take to qualify for Medicaid assistance to help meet nursing home care expenses while still maintaining certain assets.

There are two important financial requirements to consider in planning for eligibility for Medicaid assistance.

First, if a spouse requires nursing home care, he or she may have no more than $2,000 of value in what Medicaid considers non-exempt assets to initially qualify for Medicaid coverage. Among other examples, exempt assets include your primary residence, adjacent land and personal property. The at-home spouse (otherwise known as the "community spouse" by Medicaid) can also protect many assets and still enjoy considerable income protection. Under current Maine law, liquid assets such as cash, stocks, bonds, etc. up to a total value of $68,700 can be retained by the at-home spouse.

Second, when doing your Medicaid planning, it's important to know that Medicaid limits the amount of income the at-home spouse can receive after eligibility for Medicaid has been established. Under current law, the at-home spouse can receive monthly income ranging from $1,149 to $1,718 without cashing and spending CD's, stocks, bonds etc. they have worked so hard to save.

So, contrary to what many people believe, you don't have to be "broke" to qualify for Medicaid. Indeed, it pays to know just what assets, including monthly income, you may keep and still qualify for assistance.

There are other means for the at-home spouse to protect assets and income. With the uncertainty and proposed changes in both Federal and State laws, you should begin planning now for how to become eligible if you think you may be facing nursing home expenses in the future.

If you have questions about your Medicaid eligibility or would like some advice about how to set up a plan that will suit your personal situation, please contact Albert Bellevue, Jr. Esq., of Claudia Raessler, Esq., at Preti, Flaherty, Bellevue and Pachios, 150 Congress St., Rumford, ME 04276, Tel. 364-4593.

Jerry Bernier will be coming home from Ireland on July 16. He went on the trip with people from Newry.

Jackie and Bruce Libby went camping in the Rangeley Lakes area on July 2. On July 3, they camped out at Stony Brook Campground in Newry. On July 4, they watched the fireworks in Gorham, N.H. Grace Gibson and her daughter Theresa, and her friend Meredith Mason went with the Libbys to watch the fireworks in Gorham.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Smith were at Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burand's camp from June 26 to July 3 at Mooselookmeguntic Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Burand were with them. They saw three large moose while there, but no salmon.

On July 4, Polly Smith was in South Paris visiting Freda Edmonds. It has been too hot to do much else but wish for a cold January day.

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

Thursday, July 1, there was a good crowd at the East Stoneham Church supper. The next one is the 15th. If you don't feel like cooking this hot weather, let the Stoneham cooks do it for you. Also, July 22 is the Hunt's Corner supper. Those beans, casseroles, salads and pies, etc. sound good don't they.

I don't have too much news this week as I spent the 4th of July weekend in the Stephens Memorial Hospital, going in on Saturday and coming home on Tuesday. It's a good place to be when one needs the medical attention and the nurses are super. I was just getting acquainted with a nice lady roommate from Bethel when I came home. Hope you're feeling better, Alice Remmy and enjoy the window by the flower garden. The flowers and shrubbery are just so pretty and nice there, and Winona Clark and her helpers do a splendid job there.

Cheryl and Paul Barnard, Joshua, Jenna and Lindsey and little "Spanky" arrived here on Tuesday, coming from Turkey to spend the summer months with her parents, Albert and Eleanor Nelson.

Church services are being held in the No. Waterford Church for the month of July.

July 24 is the lobster and steak feed at the Rescue Barn and one should buy their tickets by July 20. This is always for a good cause.

No. Waterford Fair is July 15, 16, and 17. This used to be an annual meeting place for people who hadn't seen each other for a long time while the children enjoyed the rides and games. The pig scramble is always an exciting time for the participants and onlookers.

Hopefully there will be better news next week. Today, we are staying under the ceiling fans as it is 90 degrees and almost 100 outside, and company spent the day at the lake, which are two good places to be.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

This is July 4th and all is quiet here in Greenwood City.

I had some lovely strawberries for my breakfast. The dictionary defines the strawberry as the fruit of a rosaceous herb of the genus FRAGARIA with an enlarged fleshy receptacle.

I call that a dull description of one of spring and summer's most sumptuous pleasures. A sweet, freshly picked strawberry placed in the mouth, sun warmed can't be beat. It is almost like tasting the essence of summer, summers of years gone by. It brings memories of red-lipped children with whom I have picked berries. They sample for mom's homemade shortcake. Memories such as these do doubt caused the saying, "God could have made, but God never did make a better berry."

These berries were a favorite of the early colonists who ate them plain, dipped in salt or sugar. The Indians used them for medicines, beverages, and a bread which was probably the beginning of our shortcake.

Strawberry festivals long have been an American tradition. It started first with the Iroquois Indians, who celebrated the end of the long barren winter with a festival honoring the wild strawberries that grew beside Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. The early American settlers gathered families and friends together in June when the berries were sweet and ripe. Many claims have been made over the years for the benefit of eating strawberries. I think the best claim to their fame is their taste.

There are many theories as to why they were named strawberries. One is that the berries seem to be "strewn" among the leaves and plants; in time this "STREWBERRY" became the strawberry. Another theory was that the Old English word "strew" meant hay or straw. Others believe that they are so named because straw was used as a covering for the berry beds.

It seems silly to list all the ways that one can eat the berry. They are so perfect in the natural goodness of them. Whatever you do with them, enjoy them to their fullest.

When fields are sweet with clover bloom along about July.

And the summer sun is shining in the blue and colorful sky;

It is then we donned an old straw hat and took the path that led

Out to the sheltered hillside and the lush strawberry bed.

The cake was spread with strawberries on top and in between,

Huge wedges, buttery and sweet, preparing to please a queen.

Of all the pleasant happenings that come in summer time,

There is one that tops them all-- it's the homemade shortcake time.

July 4 was very quiet here except for traffic. There were plenty of cars moving.

Ann is home again after spending a week at Tufts College.

Zilpha DiArenzo had the misfortune of breaking her foot recently.

At the farm it's a busy time, for it's haying time and so far the weather has been good.

Carl and Lettie Brooks stopped by to see me for a few minutes recently. It's nice to see Carl able to be out again.

High Street

West Paris

By RUSSELL YATES

This is Tuesday morning, July 6 and it acts like another hot day.

The last day of June was real nice here. Peggy decided she'd wash the curtains and windows as they needed it badly.

In the evening, Peggy had a meeting of the committee that is planning the Variety Show that will be held on July 23 at 7 p.m. at Franklin Grange Hall in Bryant Pond.

It was nice weather Sunday morning, so I started out the forenoon by doing some laundry. Then I went outside and used my sprayer to foliar feed some more of the plants in the garden. In the afternoon I went with Peggy to put out posters advertising the Variety Show of July 23. She stopped and left posters at many places and ended up at Loretta and Emerson Merrill's in West Bethel. We visited there a short while and then went back out to Dwight Merrill's where Mary Merrill and baby girl, and a friend of hers with a baby boy were all enjoying the swimming pool. Those babies were only six to seven months old, but they sure were enjoying the water--no whimpering or crying, just smiles.

From there, we went to visit Bryce and Barbara Yates up Sunday River. They already had some company that we enjoyed meeting, and we all visited together. We had supper with them and didn't leave for home until nearly 9 p.m. after having an enjoyable evening.

The dance with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra will be at West Summer Grange Hall on July 17, and the dance on July 24 will be at the Locke Mills Town Hall. These are the old fashioned dances, so come shake a leg.

News from the

The Bethel Library

An important addition to the Bethel Library's collection was made recently through the efforts of SAD44 Chemical Health Coordinator Rodney Abbot, Abbot, who works with the Community Chemical Awareness Team, received a "Drug-Free Schools and Communities" grant which allowed him to place books and materials on chemical awareness in the Bethel Library and in K-12 classrooms throughout the district.

Some of the titles in the library's new collection: "Self-Esteem: A family affair"; "Drugs and Sports"; "Growing Up Again"; "It's Okay to say no to Drugs and Cigarettes"; "Raising Drug-free Kids in a Drug-filled World"; "The Boy who Drank too Much"; "It Won't Happen to Me"; "You'll Miss Me when I'm Gone".

The new videos this month from the "Check It Out" Video Library Program: Grand Hotel; Don Segundo Sombra; Odd Man Out; Matter of Heart; Street of Shame; Tender Comrade; Grant Illusion; Stray Dog; Chutas Fronteras; Owl Moon.

Three new videos have been added to the library's permanent collection, thanks to donations by Caroline Raymond and Ginny Walker: "Three Golden Book Stories"; "Tales of Beatrix Potter"; "Bill Cosby: 49".

Among the new books at the library this month: Arthur Ashe, "Days of Grace"; Scott Turow, "Pleading Guilty"; Isabel Allende, "The Infinite Plan"; Dean Ornish, "Eat More, Weigh Less"; Calvin Trillin, "Remembering Denny"; Gore Vidal, "United States"; Robert Ludlum, "The Scorpion Illusion"; James Clavell, "Gai-Tin"; Robert Parker, "Paper Doll".

ASK A LAWYER

I received a subpoena to appear in court as a witness and I am nervous about it. Will I need to take a lot of time off from work? Do I have to do this even if I don't really want to?

A subpoena is a court order which requires the person named in it to appear at a specific time and place to be questioned under oath about either a matter that is under investigation or a lawsuit. As well as your attendance, a subpoena may also require you to produce papers, documents, or anything else relevant to the particular proceeding.

Usually a subpoena orders the person named to appear and give testimony before a court. It will always identify the person by whom it was issued and the name of the proceeding to which it relates.

If you are served with a subpoena, you cannot ignore it. If you do, you risk being held in contempt of court, even if the subpoena is not signed by a judge. You must do one of two things: either obey the subpoena; or, if you have an objection to it, apply to the proper court for an order canceling or modifying it. This is called a motion to quash, and it must be made before the date on which the subpoena orders you to appear. Contact an attorney to do this.

Keep this in mind if you are served with a subpoena: If you feel that you may be the target of a criminal investigation, or that your testimony in any way might implicate you in criminal activity, however remote, consult an attorney. Remember, too, even if you believe a subpoena to be invalid, the only correct way to nullify it is the motion to quash.

If your only objection to the subpoena is that it may be difficult or impossible for you to appear at the time and place indicated, contact the attorney or person who issued the subpoena. The name, address, and telephone number should be written at the bottom of the subpoena. Try to reschedule your appearance, or arrange to be on call by telephone. This way you can avoid sitting through the entire proceeding. If this is not possible, and you feel that your appearance will endanger your health or business, seek the advice of an attorney.

"Ask a Lawyer" is published in cooperation with this paper and the Maine State Bar Association. The views expressed in this column are those of the author. Lawyers will answer questions on subjects of general interest. The column is meant as general information and should not be relied upon for advice in a specific case. For individual advice, consult your attorney. If you do not have an attorney and believe you need legal advice, contact the Maine Lawyer Referral and Information Service at 622-1460. This month's question was answered in cooperation with Tel-Law, a free public service of the Maine State Bar Association. Other answers to basic legal questions are answered free of charge by dialing 622-1470.

If you have a question on a legal matter, please submit it in writing to "Ask a Lawyer", c/o The Maine State Bar Association, P.O. Box 788, Augusta, ME 04332-0788.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

This is an extremely busy week for all who are involved in any way with Mollycodd Day. Hopefully, we will be blessed with a sunny, mild day with low humidity, so all can enjoy the great events planned for the day.

Besides Mollycodd Day, this week, on Tuesday, the chamber hosted more than 130 golfers at the Bethel Inn and Country Club in our fourth annual Chamber Challenge Golf Tournament. It was a day enjoyed by all who participated. Many thanks to the nearly 50 sponsors and prize donors who made the day a success for the chamber and the golfers. A huge thanks goes to Jack Cronin from the Sudbury Inn, our chairman, who is responsible for the success of the event.

The board of directors met on Wednesday for a board retreat, facilitated by Eva Schindler-Rainman, NTL consultant. We had a chance to do some great goal setting. Many thanks to the owners of the Maine House, Tim and Linda Salveson, for donating the use of their facility and to the Sudbury Inn for donating lunch.

The chamber and NTL are co-sponsoring a craft/art fair on the NTL grounds on Thursday, July 25, from noon to 2 p.m. More than 15 artists, craft people and shopkeepers are participating in this. The public is welcomed. Many thanks to Don Katlin for producing the sign and to Eva Schindler-Rainman for making the arrangements for this.

Meeting House Musical

An old-fashioned concert, "Through the Years with Music" will be presented by local and area talent at the Middle Intervale Meeting House in Bethel, Sunday, July 25 at 2 p.m.

Performers have been costumed, programs have been printed, tickets are ready to sell, and Ed Hitchcock, master of ceremonies, is ready to host the special event, featuring the favorite songs of the last 175 years.

There will be Rollie York and his guitar singing folk songs, Dorothy Canwell whistling "Listen to the Mocking Bird," Richard Felt with his harmonica, along with fiddler Bill Bedard, and Lona Bedard on the accordion playing country favorites such as "Little Brown Jug" and "Yellow Rose of Texas."

Ruth Silver and Pat Carter will perform a piano duet arrangement of Chopin's, "Military Polonaise."

Don Vautour will sing several solos, including the beautiful "You'll Never Walk Alone" from Carousel. He will join Cathy Hoy in singing two favorite W.W. I songs, with Nesta Littlefield at the piano.

Then there will be ragtime piano from the 1890s by Tom Coolidge. Nancy Hansen will sing "After the Ball," plus a musical recitation in the style of elocutionists of the early 20th century, with Carol Fiske accompanist.

A quartet of Congregational Choir Members will render songs in four-part harmony reminiscent of singing societies and college glee clubs of the 1870s and 1880s.

A violin solo by Nancy Carroll.

Jim Stoner will play Boogie Woogie on the piano and Don Katlin will bring back memories of the 1960s with "Blowing in the Wind."

Cheryl Lord singing a popular song of today--"Wind Beneath my Wings"--accompanied by Ruth Silver, brings the program to a close.

Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door. Donations will be $5 for adults, $3 for children under 12.

Directions to the Meeting House for those out of the Bethel area: driving north on Route 26 from Norway watch for signs as you approach Bethel Village, one-half mile beyond Telstar High School turn right at the Meeting House sign. Those traveling south from the village on Route 26 turn left about one-fourth mile after crossing the railroad tracks at the Meeting House sign.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY PLANS NEW COOKBOOK EDITION

A second edition of the Bethel Historical Society Cook Book is being prepared for publication and is expected to be out later in the year. The first edition appeared in 1979 and has been a steady seller in the museum store since that time. Supplies are now exhausted and for several months a committee chaired by Jim Lowe with Arlene Lowell and Geraldine Howe have been working to prepare another edition.

The 1993 edition is expected to offer a full range of recipes divided by historic photographs and old-time household hints. More recipes are needed. Anyone wishing to submit recipes of soups and appetizers, chicken, fish, meat dishes, salads, breads and rolls and cookies and pies is urged to submit them to the Society, P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Me., 04217-0012 or call the society for additional information, 207-824-2908.

This new edition is but one of a series of publications produced by the society since its founding in 1966. In 1992, the organization was recognized by the American Association for State and Local History.

Presently a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time local historical society, dedicated to preserving and interpreting the region's past. Its activities include monthly meetings, exhibits, lectures, special events, school programs, and publications.

NEW POSTMASTER TO BE INSTALLED AT LOCKE MILLS

Caroline O. Merrill is scheduled to be installed as the new Postmaster at Locke Mills today, Wednesday, July 14 at 9:30 a.m. at the Locke Mills Post Office.

The oath of office will be administered by Barbara A. Patterson, district manager, customer services, for the District of Maine, U.S. Postal Service.

The new postmaster started her career with the Postal Service in 1971 as a substitute mail carrier. Since that time, she has also served as a part-time flexible clerk and most recently as postmaster at West Bethel for the past 11 years.

Merrill as postmaster will be responsible for three employees who handle the mail for 248 post office boxholders.

The new postmaster says her personal goal for the Locke Mills office is to provide customer satisfaction to all residents of the community in a professional and efficient manner.

Candlelight memorial service

The Bethel Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Post is inviting area residents to march in a candlelight memorial service for veterans of all wars after sundown July 16.

Marchers should gather on the common, where 2,000 candles with holders will be distributed free. The parade route will be from the common to the Civil War monument at the intersection of Mechanic and Main streets.

Bethel Post Commander Larry G. Smith Sr. will deliver the welcome, followed by a prayer by Acting Post Chaplain Roland Lord.

Post Adjutant Delmar McMillin will speak. A ringing of the bells will be performed by Louis Cayer, District 9 senior vice commander. Maine Department Inspector Myron H. Pierce of Post 9787 memorialize prisoners of war and those missing in action. Elaine Cross will close the program by playing taps.

Free refreshments after the parade will be served at the Lions Hall on Main Street.

Color Guards and VFW marchers will marshal at L'Auberge at 8 p.m.

Commemorative T-shirts will be available. Donations to help sponsor the event may be sent to VFW Post 11363, RFD #1, Box 56, Bethel, Maine, 04217.

A Dear Friend

On June 22, 1993 the area of Oxford Hills lost a beloved citizen. Olive P. Davis passed away. She was known throughout Oxford County for her diligent work in both the Subordinate and Pamona Grange Orders.

Olive loved making green tomato relish and at Christmas time her So. Woodstock neighbors and friends were the recipients of a jar of the relish in place of Christmas cards.

She was often called upon to write a poem for occasions such as Birthday, Anniversary and Retirement Parties. Her home is decorated throughout with paintings which she has done herself.

At the time of her retirement from 42 years of teaching in the So. Woodstock Union School the party in her honor was attended by 3 generations of her pupils.

Many throughout the area will be missing her So. Woodstock News. As I have spent many hours with Olive in the past 3 years. I will miss her the most.

Esther Davis
